A staple of the Wendelbo collection, the Circle Table by 365° North has been reimagined with new material combinations, offering a fresh interpretation of its timeless design.

The latest iteration features a circular Pietra Grey marble tabletop that appears to float effortlessly above a delicate brushed steel frame, creating a harmonious and understated elegance. Available in two sizes, the Circle Table serves as a striking focal point in larger lounge settings or as a sophisticated side table in more compact spaces.

Louise Mengel Læsø, Head of Design at Wendelbo, remarks: “With the new material combinations, we believe the design takes on a fresh and intriguing expression. The Pietra Grey marble tabletop and brushed steel frame complement each other beautifully.”

The Circle Table collection now offers three meticulously crafted material combinations: a black burnished steel frame paired with Nero Marquina marble, a brass frame combined with Dark Emperador marble, and brushed steel with Pietra Grey marble. Each combination highlights the timeless allure of marble, showcasing its understated luxury and adaptability to both classic and contemporary interiors.
